Supporting and Empowering Mothers Through Cancer and Motherhood

Our Mission

Our mission is to ensure that every mother navigating a cancer diagnosis while also navigating motherhood feels supported, empowered, and never alone. We provide emotional, financial, and wellness support to women who are pregnant or raising small children, creating a community of care that uplifts families during the most difficult fight of their lives.

Our founder, Alicia Henry, is a breast cancer survivor who transformed her own journey of battling cancer while pregnant into a mission of hope. Inspired by her daughter, Journi, she created Journi For Two to stand beside mothers with compassion, strength, and resources.

Why Partner With Us

Beauty & Confidence

We provide makeovers and professional photoshoots to survivors to help restore confidence and self-image after treatment.

Survivors receive hair, makeup, and styling services plus a photoshoot so they have beautiful images to share with family and keep as a reminder of their strength.

These experiences celebrate survivors, help them feel seen and beautiful, and create lasting memories for them and their families.

Maternal Health & Advocacy

We prioritize maternal health - ensuring pregnant and parenting moms facing cancer know their options and rights.

Journi for Two connects mothers with resources, maternal health education, and peers who understand what they're going through.

Founder's note: Alicia was once told to abort, but by advocating for herself and exploring options, her daughter Journi was born. Now Alicia uses her voice to be the advocate for mothers who need one.

Expanded Impact

Hundreds of moms supported with care boxes, makeovers, and photoshoots.

Dozens of free breast exams and maternal health referrals provided in the community.

Transformative retreat experiences and a growing peer community of mothers supporting each other.
